FOR HOSPITAL DIRECTORS & EXECUTIVE TEAMS

Important conversations at work shouldn't be handled on instinct.

Empatyzer helps heads of department, ward managers and other leaders prepare a difficult conversation with a specific person.

WHERE LEADERSHIP HAPPENS

WARD

The hardest conversations in a hospital happen between shifts.

Not in the boardroom.

WHAT RETURNS TO THE BOARD

Three issues that grow when nobody speaks early.

01 — EXPERT

A valued specialist needs a boundary — but the ward cannot easily work without them.

02 — BETWEEN WARDS

A conflict stays unresolved until two teams can no longer close it themselves.

03 — NEW LEADER

A clinician knows the work. Feedback, delegation and conflict are learned while leading.

Clinical autonomy. Shared rules.

YOU

A head of department ignored our agreement again. I need to address it. How do I start?

EM

Acknowledge clinical responsibility. Then separate autonomy from cross-ward rules, name the operational impact and ask what drove the decision before setting the boundary.

Context: you, the other person and this situation.

★★★★★ 5.0/5 on Capterra

A diagnosis keeps Em from giving generic advice.

01	DIAGNOSIS	Traits, talents, motivators and tensions
02	ASK EM	Help for this person, team or department
03	MICRO-LESSONS	Two short, personalized lessons each week

WHAT CHANGES IN THE HOSPITAL

Help reaches the ward before conflict reaches the board.

ON THE WARD	leaders prepare conversations between shifts
FOR HR	fewer ordinary issues need direct mediation
FOR THE BOARD	more problems are resolved closer to care

PRIVACY IS PART OF THE PRODUCT

The company does not read questions or answers.
